

purchaser thereof on November 1, 1917, from the State of Illinois into the State of Iowa, in further violation of said act.

Analysis of a sample of the article by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed from the immersion refractometer readings of the juice at 20°C. the addition of water.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in substance in the information for the reason that a substance, to wit, water, had been mixed and packed therewith so as to lower and reduce and injuriously affect its quality and strength, and had been substituted in part for tomatoes, which the article purported to be.

Misbranding of the article was alleged for the reason that the statement, to wit, "Tomatoes," borne on the labels attached to the cans containing the article, regarding it and the ingredients and substances contained therein, was false and misleading in that it represented that said article consisted exclusively of tomatoes, and for the further reason that it was labeled as aforesaid so as to deceive and mislead the purchaser into the belief that it consisted exclusively of tomatoes, whereas, in truth and in fact, it did not so consist, but consisted in part of added water.

On April 26, 1919, the defendant entered a plea of nolo contendere to the information, and the court imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

On November 30, 1918, the United States attorney for the District of Minnesota, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district an information against the Northern Drug Co., a corporation, Duluth, Minn., alleging shipment by said company, in violation of the Food and Drugs Act, as amended, on or about August 22, 1917, from the State of Minnesota into the State of Connecticut, of a quantity of an article labeled in part, "Dr. King's Star Crown Brand Pills," which was misbranded.

Examination of a sample of the article by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed that the pills consisted essentially of aloes and oil of pennyroyal coated with calcium carbonate, charcoal, and sugar.

It was alleged in substance in the information that the article was misbranded for the reason that certain statements included in the circular accompanying the article falsely and fraudulently represented it as a sure treatment, remedy, and cure for delayed menstruation, painful menstruation, and menstrual irregularities, and effective when taken in connection with herb tea made of pennyroyal, thyme, or tansy, as a treatment, remedy, and cure for delayed menstruation, when, in truth and in fact, it was not either when taken alone or in connection with herb tea made of pennyroyal, thyme, or tansy.

On November 30, 1918, the defendant company entered a plea of guilty to the information, and the court imposed a fine of $5.
